How to Go All-In on FeePiX Nickel

A Step-by-Step Guide for Laymen

1 Money

In order to get started, you must have a bank account with a small amount of savings. Figure 1 shows an ideal amount. It is imperative that you go as close to all-in as possible in order to generate the highest returns. 90-100% asset allocation in FeePiX is acceptable where the assets is ones entire liquid net worth. After the initial investment, ensure that all future paychecks and cash incomes are invested in additional FeePiX shares at market open.

Figure 2 depicts a non-ideal savings account for an all-in. Such a bank account should be returned to positive equity. If one wishes to invest in FeePiX, main bank accounts should be returned to positive amounts. Debts may cause issues with investment. An alternative for investing with debt is to open any and all possible lines of credit to generate cash. Section 2 briefly covers investing with debt.

The expected return on investment over 10 years can be roughly estimated by multiplying the initial investment by four orders of magnitude. For example, the savings amount in Figure 1 would become  $$1,203.42 * 10000 = $12,034,200$ . With just that amount, the investor would become a multi-millionaire. Investors with higher initial amounts, such as $100,000 or more, may become billionaires. With a large enough amount, one can eclipse the world's richest individuals such as Bill Gates or Jeff Bezos.

2 Setting up a Brokerage Account

A brokerage account is required to buy shares required for investment in FeePiX. A professional, experienced broker is recommend such as WeBull or Robinhood. Avoid brokers intended for casual investors; they are not suitable for this goal. This guide uses Robinhood as an example which provides free web, Android, and iPhone applications. Robinhood is commission-free which maximizes returns.

After installing an app of choice, find the screen to link a bank account. Figure 3 shows this screen for Robinhood. Enter all required information.
